It seems that everything related to human life in the society involves language because through language the interaction among tribes, ethnic groups and religions can happen. For a linguist who wants to explore the system of a language, there are no goals were more ideal than the mother tongue (Uhlenbeck, 1982: 62). Similarly, the Javanese community in Rantau Utara.

The most factor was often found out the living together and see each other frequently. Here, it was clear that Javanese people who married with different ethnic or not Javanese people she or he could speak and understand what the Javanese people talk. It was caused by Javanese husband or Javanese wife always used Javanese language at home and socialized with other people outside. It was also similar what Purwoko (2011) found out that Javanese native speakers to carry out language revitalization or maintenance. They have to equip themselves with a strong feeling of ethnic identity, which covers some extra-linguistic factors, such as: ‘local/cultural pride’, ‘cultural heritages’ and ‘economic power within the Javanese community’. First, how to improve the ‘local/cultural pride’ becomes the crucial step for the local government authority and/or the language planners before they start to campaign for using the local vernacular, besides the national language, on any occasions which might allow. Secondly, any kinds of ‘cultural heritages’, especially folk arts using local vernaculars are worth.
