ABSTRACT

This study was aimed to find out the process of teaching reading comprehension through story face of narrative text and students’ problems in the process of learning reading comprehension through story face of narrative text. The research was conducted by using descriptive qualitative. The data were analyzed by qualitative analysis technique which consists of three procedures, namely: data condentation, data display and drawing/conclusion. The data were the result of observing and interviewing of students at SMK Swasta Dwiwarna Medan. The data were analyzed based on teaching reading comprehension through story face by Randolp (2012). The findings showed that the process of teaching learning reading by using story face could help the students in learning reading but teaching reading comprehension by using story face was still less effective in grade tenth in SMK Swasta Dwiwarna Medan. The teacher had followed the procedure well based on the Randolp(2012), but the teacher did not manage the time well. There were some students’ problems in learning reading comprehension of narrative text by using story face. The problems were: (a) students lack vocabulary mastery, (b) The students had problem to decode words and sentence, (c) Students had problem to get main idea of the text and to figure out the inference of the text, (d) Students had habit of slow reading, (e) Students had problem in working memory to remember the text, (f) students were being passive during learning process and they did not confidence, they felt afraid to make a mistake in learning reading.

Key words:Reading comprehension, students’ problems in learning reading, Story Face, Teaching reading story face.

1. INTRODUCTION

Language is use for communication (Brown, 2000:5). Based on the statement, language is the most important things in communication, and it is used as a tool of communication among the people around the world. Every country has its own language to one another. For Indonesia, English is as a foreign language. Brown (2004:185) states that reading arguably the most essential skill for success in all educational contexts. That statement is supported by Carrel (1988:1) states that reading is the most important of the four skills, particularly in foreign language. English has four skills: these skills are important part in communication. The skills are listening, speaking, reading and writing.

Reading skill is one of the skills that should be mastered by the students in almost all levels of school. Reading can be defined as perceiving a written text in order to understand its content (Richard et al, 2002:454). Reading is one of important aspects to learn language. Reading is a complex, purposeful, interactive, comprehending, and flexible activity that takes considerable time and resources to develop. Reading is very essential to get information from the text.

Aebersold and Field (1997:15) states that reading is what happens when people look at the text and assign meaning to the written symbols in that text, further, the text and reader are two physical entities necessary for the reading process to begin.

In reading activity, the reader should understand the idea delivered by the text. A text can be divided into many kinds. One of them is narrative story. Narrative story as a cultural product is important for students to motivate imagination (carter, 2005:3). The study on story as a cultural product is important to conduct because any time it improves meaning, forming, creation, and imagination of students. Students sometimes are hard to find the answer of the questions in the text. They have to comprehend main idea of the text. Especially in reading narrative text, the students had the problem to understand the content of reading text, to understand the meaning words in reading text and the teacher does not give interest strategy to students. Therefore, students are less exited to read the narrative text because the teacher’s strategy just asks student to read a text and answer the question.

Story face is one of strategies that can be used in comprehend the text to help students. According to Staal (2000: 79) the story face strategy is easier to understand. It is supported by Whitten (2009:188) Story Face is an adaptation of story mapping, which also uses a visual framework for understanding, identifying and remembering elements in narrative text.

Recently the teachers are also challenged by the government to use the 2013 curriculum. According to Majid & Rochman (2014:1), “the 2013 curriculum is competence-based process to boost the learning process and authentic assessment to attain attitudes, knowledge, and skills”. The implementation of the 2013 curriculum is familiar with the words scientific approach. The application of this approach makes the students to learning model possibly to create a thought skill of science. According to (Dyer, 2011) in (Ridwan, 2015:53), “scientific approach is learning that has the components, they are components is, Observing, Questioning, Exploring, Associating, and Networking/Communicating”.

Based on writer’s experience in doing PPLT in SMK Swasta Dwiwarna Medan, English teacher in SMK Swasta Dwiwarna understands that students need more practice in reading English. By observing include the interview between the researcher and teacher, it found that story face is effective way to help students to understand the text but only some of students understand with teacher instruction. After doing preliminary research, it was found that some students face many difficulties in comprehending narrative text although the teacher has used story face.

2. Review of Literature

Language Skill

Language is essentially a skill. Skill related to different aspects of using language: such as listening, reading, writing and speaking. Skills are our ability to do these things. They are usually divided into two types namely: receptive and productive skill. Receptive skills are those used in understanding; reading or listening. Meanwhile, productive skills involve producing language; speaking or writing.

Reading

Reading is process of getting meaning from printed word symbols. It means that reading is more than mechanics unessential part of the process. Mikulecky (2008:1) writes that reading is a conscious and unconscious thinking process. With reading we can get more information about something and increase our knowledge. Reading can be defined as perceiving a written text in order to understand its content (Richard et al., 2002:454). Nuttal (1982:74) says reading as the meaningful interpretation of printed or written verbal symbols. Based on the definition above, the researcher conclude that reading is the readers’ activity in order getting information and comprehend from printed text using eyes and brain to understand what the writer thinks in his/her written. Reading is a process to understand information by reading the reader can enlarge their knowledge. In English language there are four basic skills, they are speaking, writing, reading and listening. But the most important skill is reading. Because reading as a measure of student success in learning process.

According to Rivers and temperly cited in Hedge (2000:195), the purpose of reading are:

1) To get information.

2) To respond to curiosity about the topic.

3) Follow instruction to perform a task.

4) For pleasure, amusement, and personal enjoyment

5) To keep in touch with friends and colleagues.

6) To know what is happening in the world and find out when and where thing are Narrative Text

A narrative text is an imaginative story to entertain people. The word “story” may be used as a synonym of “narrative”. A narrative can also be told by a character within a larger narrative. Narrative text is a written or oral text which tells fictional or nonfictional event in the past (National Literacy Trust, 2013). There are many types of narrative. They can be imaginary, factual or a combination of both.

The purpose of narrative text (Saragih, 2010:149 and Gerot, 2001:204) is to amuse or to entertain the reader with a story. The rhetorical structure and textual elements of narrative text consist of: (1) orientation, (2) complication, (3) resolution.

Story Face as a Strategy in Teaching Reading

Story Face is by giving a picture to make the students interest reading process. Staal in Klingner, J.K., Vaught, S., & Boardman (2007:98) states that Story Face is an adaptation of story mapping that provides a visual frame work for understanding, identifying, and remembering elements in narrative text. The story face constructed by making the eyes, eyelashes, nose, mouth.

It is supported by Whitten et al (2009:188) Story Face is an adaptation of story mapping, which also uses a visual framework for understanding, identifying and remembering elements in narrative text. In this theory, he explains that Story Face used the frame work to make students understand about a text. Before the students reads a text the students should be identifying and remember about element of narrative text, so that the students reading the narrative text the students have background knowledge about text. Staal write that the Story Face is constructed by:

a. Making the eye: two circles representing the setting and main character.

d. Mouth: comprises a series of circles representing the man events that lead to the solution.
Teaching Reading through Story Face

In teaching reading, teacher uses strategy for interested students in reading subject. Teaching reading through story face is teaching reading with imagination and visualization to find mind of every component in each story. According to Randolp (2012), the main ways are:

1) Preview the story face with students prior to reading a narrative text.
2) Review the information that students should identify while reading.
3) Students read the text and fill out the story face.
4) Creating a story face

Students find their imagination through map and describe about the story their read. They will know setting, main character, problems, events, and a solution of the story. According to Staal that provides a visual framework for understanding, identifying, and remembering elements in narrative text.

Teaching reading through story face is teaching reading using strategy map with make a shape with the main component story and arrange to be one component looks like face. It helps students in teaching reading because students can visual or image the story. Teaching reading by using story face makes students understanding in reading material.

3. Research Methodology

The research was conducted to answer two questions mentioned in the problem formulation. They were process of teaching reading comprehension through story face of narrative text and students’ problems in the process of learning reading comprehension through story face of narrative text. The data of the research was the students’ worksheets of 20 students at grade tenth in SMK Swasta Dwiwarna Medan and the transcript of the students’ interview. This study analyzed the data based on Miles, Huberman and Saldana’s theory (2014).

<td>Does listen – read discuss helps you to comprehend the text?</td>
<td>Yes, it helped me to comprehend the text because the teacher present information about the text before read the text and conducted discussion after I read the text. It made me easier to understand the text and practice my speaking skill in discussion session.</td>

<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>What are the problems that you find in learning reading comprehension by using story face?</td>
<td>Yes, I felt bored listen the teacher present the information about the text, the teacher monotonously present the text. In addition, I was not motivated to read the text, because the text was not interested or difficult to be understood. Many of my friends did not involve in discussion session, they made noisy and chatted each other. It disturbed me and I felt shy and afraid if I made mistake.</td>

<td>What are the difficulties that you find in understanding the meaning of a word or a sentence in the text?</td>
<td>Sometimes, I did not know the meaning of a word and translated it by looking up in dictionary or asking to the teacher, moreover if that word was a word that I had never seen before. Furthermore, when I had known the meaning of a word, I difficult translated the whole sentence was weird although I had checked the meaning of each word that sentence in dictionary.</td>

<td>What are the problems that you find in comprehending and figuring out of the inference of the text?</td>
<td>I had problem to get main idea of the text and to figure out inference of the text, I did not understand the text well. One of the reasons was because of less vocabulary mastery and I did not practice to read the text at home after I learned English in the school.</td>

<td>Do you need a long time to read and understand a text?</td>
<td>Yes, I realize that I read text very slowly. Sometimes, I translated words by looking up in dictionary or asking to the teacher. I am aware it waste of many times, but I could not read the text quickly because I did not know the meaning of a word or a sentence. So, I need to translate it by using dictionary or asking to the teacher.</td>

<td>What are the difficulties that you find in memorizing the text that you had read and discussed before?</td>
<td>I had problem to memorize the text we had discussed before even to memorize the meaning of words in the text, it might happen because I rarely learn or practice English outside the school after I learn English in the school. Moreover, English words are hardly used in my environment, nobody used it, so it is so hard to remember a new word(sentence).</td>

The researcher found that students had some problems in learning reading comprehension through story face in SMK SWASTA DWIWARNA MEDAN. They were as follows:
1) The students had no good vocabulary mastery. They still looked up in the dictionary or asked to the teacher if they wanted to know the meaning of a word.

2) The students had problem to decode words and sentences.

3) Students had problem to get main idea of the text and to figure out the inference of the text. It was because of less vocabulary mastery and did not practice to read the text at home after they learn English in the school.

4) Students had habit of slow reading. They waste many of times for translating words and sentences in the text.

5) Students had problem in working memory. Working memory weakness might be consequence of poor language comprehension.

6) The students had problems with finding motivation and interest in learning reading. Then, they were being passive during learning process. Because, they did not confidence and they felt afraid to make a mistake in learning reading of narrative text.

5. Conclusion

Teaching reading by using story face could help the students in learning reading. The teaching reading comprehension by using story face was still less effective in grade tenth in SMK Swasta Dwiwarna Medan. There were many problems that could not manage well by teacher despite the teacher had followed the procedure well based on the Randolp (2012). There were still many weaknesses in several sides. But it did not give the big influence for teaching learning process, the process could be done properly.
The problems faced by students in teaching reading comprehension by story face was students in SMK Swasta Dwiwarna have problems in reading comprehension through story face, especially in the tenth grade in learning English have difficult to comprehending the text. The factors of the problems are: the students’ less vocabulary, students confuse to understand the contain of the text because they don’t know the meaning of the text, the students get difficulties to analyze a text to determine its generic structure because of slowly reading, the students get difficulties to catch the main idea of the text, bored with the situation during learning process.

6. Suggestion

For the English teacher

a. Story face should be effectively to teach narrative

b. Teacher should be easier giving instructions to students

c. The teacher should be easier to open students imagination

For other Researchers

Teaching reading through story face makes the teacher easier to explain and make students enjoy and effective in learning reading to increase their reading.
